

On April 20, 1987, Gov. Thomas Kean signed the Mandatory Source Separation and Recycling Act. This law requires everyone to separate recyclable materials from regular trash.

Each municipality was obligated to recycle 25% of its solid waste. Middlesex County reached that 25% recycling goal in 1989.

In November of 1990, Governor James Florio accepted a report by the N.J. Solid Waste Task Force which called for a goal of 60% to be recycled by the end of 1995. Middlesex County adopted that goal in March of 1991.

To help meet this goal, Middlesex County, the Middlesex County Improvement Authority (MCIA) and our towns are working together to educate people about recycling and to encourage compliance with the law.

This brochure should answer most of your questions, however you may also call your municipal recycling coordinator or the county for more information.

Businesses, institutions, governments, industrial or commercial establishments are also required by law to recycle and should contact the county or their local recycling coordinator for guidelines.

WHY RECYCLE ?

There are a number of reasons including:

First, and most obvious, it's the law.

Second, recycling saves valuable landfill space, which extends the life of New Jersey's dwindling landfill space and moves us towards disposal self-sufficiency.

Third, recycling conserves more than:
90 % of the energy required to produce aluminum
50 % of the energy required to produce glass

Fourth, every ton of recycled paper saves 17 trees.
